Green Tea 2000

What is Green Tea?

For many decades Green Tea has been a valued product of nature which in addition to its many positive effects on health is also being used as a nutrition supplement to reduce weight and it has proven to be a very effective "FATBURNER".

In comparison to conventional tea extracts Green Tea has only natural contents which have a much higher amount of micro nutrients which possess antioxidant, anti-catabolic, mentally stimulating and metabolism boosting properties.

The combination of these properties makes Green Tea to an outstanding food supplement within a diet to support weight loss or as an ideal part of daily food supplementation to maintain a good health and overall wellness.
